By Paige Aponte & Erin Wood

A story about a little girl named Lucy who has just gotten a horse named Sam. She wants to learn how to jump. She begins by getting the supplies she will need, learning the steps, and then competing in her first show.

The five steps of jumping are:

1. Introduce the horse to the obstacles it will be jumping.
2. Trot the horse over the jumps.
3. Set up cross rails so for the horse to practice jumping over.
4. Keep your head facing forward and your saddle forward so that you give your horse confidence.
5. Then Practice, Practice, Practice.
